

Dear Holmdel Schools Community,

We hope you all had a wonderful holiday break. As we welcome our students and staff back to school on Monday, we wish to share with you the current status of our plans for in-person instruction.

The CDC has shortened quarantine lengths for the general public, but not for schools. We anticipate updated quarantine guidelines from the CDC and the NJ Department of Health soon, but must continue to follow existing guidelines until that happens. Those are summarized below in this message. If your child needs to quarantine, please see our website for instructional information:
<https://www.holmdelschools.org/coronavirus-information>.

We are continuing to work to prioritize in-person instruction in the face of the pandemic. We are ready to reopen our buildings and will continue to practice the multiple health and safety protocols that have been in place since the beginning of the school year. When school resumes, please remember: if your children are exhibiting symptoms and/or if they have been tested for COVID-19 and are awaiting results, keep them at home. Students who are in quarantine will be able to access instruction via Google Classroom and through virtual instruction when applicable. Questions regarding quarantine should be directed to your school's nurse.

We are thankful for your cooperation. We will continue to adjust our approach as the public health situation warrants and will keep you apprised of any changes as we make them. We wish you a happy and healthy 2022!
